

Yolanda Christopher

Yolanda Milton is a certified executive coach and the visionary founder of "This Is Not a Book Club", a transformative coaching program for leaders and entrepreneurs. Combining her deep expertise in leadership development, mindset cultivation, and financial agility, Yolanda offers both year-long and express programs designed to help women scale their businesses, grow as leaders, and achieve personal breakthroughs.

Her programs reflect her commitment to fostering accountability, peer learning, and personal growth. With an emphasis on using tools to streamline life, inspire efficiency in daily routines, and increase financial fitness, she collaborates with thought leaders across multiple areas, demonstrating her belief in collective wisdom and shared learning.

As a single mom and entrepreneur, Yolanda brings a uniquely relatable perspective to her coaching, emphasizing not just professional success but also personal balance and fulfillment. Her coaching approach empowers clients to build stronger relationships, embrace joy, and find clarity in managing their "to-do" lists, all while pursuing ambitious goals.

Beyond her coaching work, Yolanda is passionate about supporting underestimated communities. She is actively involved in creating support networks for women and minority-owned businesses, increasing their success rates through education, coaching, and peer accountability.

A creative at heart, Yolanda enjoys brainstorming innovative ideas, hiking, gardening, and embracing moments of presence with loved ones. Yolanda is steadfast in her mission to uplift, inspire, and create sustainable, lasting impact.
