

Michelle McNair, Pharm. D.

Life enthusiast, People Champion, Amateur drug dealer. Meet Dr. Michelle McNair, a pharmacist by trade, with a mission of helping others with a healthy dose of humor and joy. As a proud double HBCU graduate (Tennessee State University and Howard University) her focus has been to edify and uplift minorities.

An Ambulatory Care Fellowship trained clinician, her daily motivation is to help others become advocates of their own health and help close the gap in healthcare disparities. She has stayed true to this goal by focusing her work on various managed care programs that serve populations that have the least access to healthcare. In her current position, she provides direction and leadership to several health plans to assist with improved health outcomes, including the Medicare Population.

In addition to helping patients, Dr. Michelle works to equip others with the tools they need to reach their goals and dreams. As one who didn't always see her own gifts, she works to help others see themselves and recognize their strengths and talents. She has done this by developing mentorship programs and being the change she wants to see in the world.

Dr. Michelle has a zest for living a full life. She is a Star Wars enthusiast and a dedicated member of the Delta Sigma Theta sorority. Dr. Michelle is married to her supportive husband, Michael and a fur Mom to their 3 dogs, Mochi, Miso and Mushu.
